Animals In County Facilities

Cass County is responsible for assuring the health and safety of all persons entering County buildings. In keeping with this objective, Cass County shall not permit household animals/pets in County-owned buildings. Animals may pose a threat of infection and may cause allergic reactions. Some people may feel threatened or be distracted by the presence of animals. In addition, Cass County wishes to prevent animals/pets from fouling the office space or damaging county property.

A person with a disability may request a reasonable accommodation to this policy pursuant to the Americans with Disabilities Act, 42 USC §§12101 et seq. The County may decline a request if the accommodation is not reasonable, imposes an undue hardship on the County, the animal is a direct threat to others, or an alternate reasonable accommodation is available.
